

Geber

Raw materials and specialties of excellence for wine, food & beverage and nutraceuticals

Table of Content

Geber is the partner you can trust to source raw materials and specialties

We are located in the oldest republic in the world, the Republic of San Marino. From this special place we collaborate with the best certified international producers to distribute excellent specialties and raw materials for the food & beverage, wine and nutraceutical sectors.

- Certified suppliers
- International shipments
- Competitive prices
- 100% traceable origin

Our history, our mission

Our passion for a healthy lifestyle and quality inspired us, in 2020, to found Geber. Our aim was to help companies in the wine, food and nutraceutical sectors find the best raw ingredients available on the market at the best possible prices.

Our mission is to create a value chain, where the satisfaction of our partner companies, as well as of the final consumers, is also ours. That's why we work only with the best certified producers and offer exclusively 100% traceable raw materials.

We put care and attention into every detail, with this simple sentence we want to express our commitment to ensuring our customers a quality experience, remembering that they are not just customers, but collaborators.

Our headquarters are located in the oldest republic in the world, the Republic of San Marino, a unique place in the world and a stone's throw from the lush vineyards of Romagna and the Adriatic Sea. From this special country we work together with companies from all over the world and we are committed to making our contribution to creating a more beautiful, tastier, healthier world.

Our guarantee of quality

Our mission is to create a value chain, sourcing the best raw materials for your company and offering our decade-long experience.

From the producer to your company

We find the best producers

We verify the quality of the products

Storage at controlled temperature

Fast and safe shipments

Why choose Geber

✓ Top quality suppliers

We work with the largest producers of raw materials in the world, all certified.

✓ Experience

Highly qualified management with a decade of experience in the sector.

✓ International shipments

We offer fast and safe delivery solutions and personalized shipments.

✓ Competitive prices

We are committed to offering the best possible quotes to our clients.

✓ 100% traceable origin

Transparency is important to us: the origin of our products is always traceable.

✓ Ad hoc storage

Our products are stored in protected environments to preserve their high quality.

Nutraceuticals

Raw materials, specialties and semi-finished products for supplements

From vegan proteins to whey proteins, from amino acids to immune-boosting products such as lactoferrin, colostrum and much more.

We offer only the best specific products for supplements and sports nutrition, coming from the most important certified world producers.

Discover the entire catalog by visiting our website www.gebersrl.com.

Oenological products

To make a fine wine you need excellent products

We offer the best Made in Italy oenological products for winemaking, dedicated to the international market. 100% traceable specialties, coming from the best producers in the sector and compliant with European regulations.

Visit our website www.gebersrl.com and discover the entire range of products including: nutrients, tannins, products for aging and everything needed to give life to a great wine.

Sweeteners

The best sweeteners and
edulcorants from the world

A wide range of natural and artificial sweeteners to meet the demands of an ever-changing market.

From stevia to crystal grape sugar to erythritol: find the sweetener that best suits the needs of your product and your customers.

Visit www.gebersrl.com to discover the complete list of our sweeteners.

Natural colorants

100% natural and certified customized colorants

We collaborate with international producers and with certified laboratories that will assist the customer during the process, faithfully developing the requested colour tone.

The grape and red carrot pigments are extracted using the most advanced technologies, obtaining a very pure and concentrated product which, in minimal quantities, will give food and drinks the desired shade, without altering their organoleptic qualities.

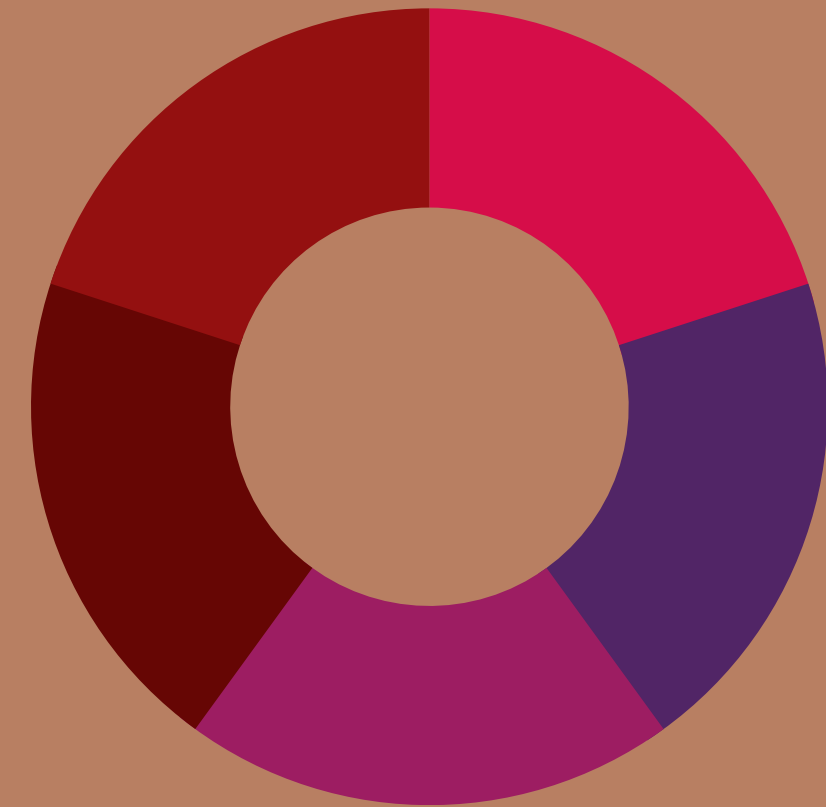

Natural anthocyanins derived from grapes

Enocyanin is obtained from the skin of red grapes, a natural dye with a red-purple color available both in liquid and powder form.

Part of the anthocyanin family, enocyanin is a premium product for coloring food and drinks in a natural way.

The simplicity of use, easy filtering and stability are some of the points in favour of this precious natural colorant. The chromatic range of enocyanin is very vast and ranges from red to purple to brown.

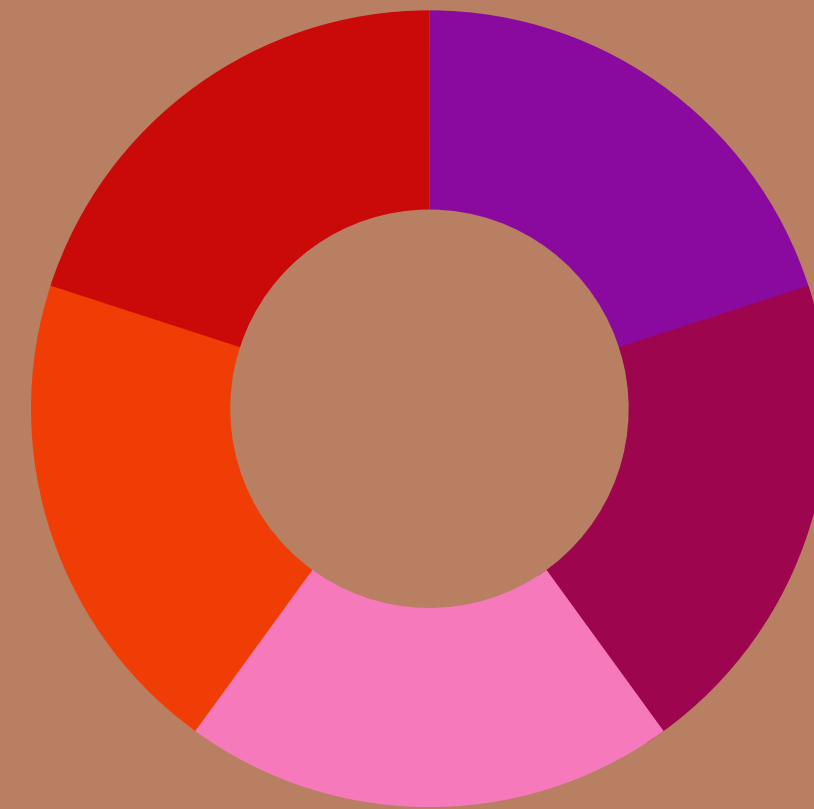

Natural anthocyanins derived from red carrot

With the pigments contained in red carrots it is possible to obtain natural dyes for food and drinks in the range of reds, purples and pinks.

The natural colorant derived from red carrots has great advantages over anthocyanins derived from other vegetables, including a low pH and reduced costs, as well as beautiful colors that will add a special touch to the product.

Find out more on www.gebersrl.com.

Commodities

Specific products for the wine and food sector

Acidity regulators, stabilizers and preservatives such as citric acid, tartaric acid, ascorbic acid and much more.

Find the commodities that best suit your production needs by visiting our website www.gebersrl.com.

Food & Beverage

The best ingredients for the Food & Beverage sector

The secret of delicious food lies also in its ingredients, which is why we only offer products of the highest quality.

Visit www.gebersrl.com to access the complete list of thickeners and gelling agents for the various food sectors including: ice cream, bakery, pastry, packaged foods and beverages.

Contacts

Geber Srl

Via 3 Settembre 99

47891, Dogana

Repubblica di San Marino

COE 29004

Phone: (0378) 0549 910141

Email: info@gebersrl.com

www.gebersrl.com

